

Accessibility Training? Why are we here today?

Brief History

Responsibilities under the Act

- Municipalities must comply with the OADA (Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2005) and file annual accessibility reports.
- Must reach compliance by January 1, 2010

How is the Act Enforced?

- Currently the Act will be enforced in a similar manner to the Labour Act on a complaint basis.
- Inspections may be carried out and fines levied if there is an offence.

It is an offence to...

- Furnish false or misleading information in an accessibility report
- Fail to comply with an order
- Obstruct or fail to answer relevant questions of an inspector
- Provide false or misleading information to an inspector or withhold relevant information.

It is an offence...

- It is an offence for a director or officer of a municipal corporation to fail to take all reasonable care to prevent the corporation from committing an offence
- Penalty – a director or officer may be fined up to $50,000 per day

- Fine of up to $50,000 for persons or organizations for each day or part-day that an offence occurs or continues
 - Fines for corporations up to $100,000 per day

Just the Facts

- Sixteen per cent of Ontario's people (more than 1.6 million) have some form of disability.
- The number of persons with disabilities is expected to increase as the population ages since the incidence of disability increases with age.
- It is estimated that the number and proportion of persons with disabilities will increase to nearly 20 per cent of the population by 2020 (one in every five residents).
- But that's just persons with disabilities. Accessibility challenges also affect the millions of parents, grandparents, families, friends, neighbours, co-workers and professionals who are involved with disabled persons on a daily basis.

Why do it?

- When you look at these figures, it becomes clear that enhancing the ability of persons with disabilities to have equal access to opportunity, to live an independent life and to make a contribution to their community would have a significant, positive impact on the province's future prosperity.
- It has been estimated, for example, that the potential spending power of Canadians with disabilities is as much as $20-$25 billion.

- Measures that improve accessibility and opportunity are consequently bound to generate significant economic benefits for all Ontarians.
 - But the government's Framework for Change doesn't just make economic sense,
 - it makes common sense; and
 - it is the right thing to do.

Accessibility plans and other important programs and services:

- Help improve the lives of persons with disabilities and those who provide care.
- Make buildings and motor vehicles more accessible.
- Create opportunities for community and independent living for disabled persons of all ages.
- Help students with disabilities to get an education.
- Help persons with disabilities get jobs or support them when they cannot work.
- Offer health care services that improve care, provide earlier intervention, and improve rehabilitation following serious injury.

Why does Ontario need accessibility standards?

- Several laws in Ontario address accessibility and some requirements have existed since the 1980s.
- Since then, progress on accessibility has been made in some areas and by some organizations.
- Despite this, accessibility remains limited. People with disabilities still do not have equal access to services, employment, transportation, information or buildings that others in Ontario enjoy. They cannot count on accessibility being available.
- The Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2005 was passed with the goal of creating standards to improve accessibility across the province.

Who needs to be trained?

- Those who must be provided with this training include employees, volunteers, agents and contractors and others who could reasonably be expected to:
 - Interact with the public on your behalf; or
 - Influence the development of policies, practices and procedures.

Legislation

- “6. (1) Every provider of goods or services shall ensure that the following persons receive training about the provision of its goods or services to persons with disabilities:
 1. Every person who deals with members of the public or other third parties on behalf of the provider, whether the person does so as an employee, agent, volunteer or otherwise.
 2. Every person who participates in developing the provider’s policies, practices and procedures governing the provision of goods or services to members of the public or other third parties. O. Reg. 429/07, s. 6 (1).

(2) The training must include a review of the purposes of the Act and the requirements of this Regulation and instruction about the following matters:

1. How to interact and communicate with persons with various types of disability.
2. How to interact with persons with disabilities who use an assistive device or require the assistance of a guide dog or other service animal or the assistance of a support person.
3. How to use equipment or devices available on the provider's premises or otherwise provided by the provider that may help with the provision of goods or services to a person with a disability.
4. What to do if a person with a particular type of disability is having difficulty accessing the provider's goods or services. O. Reg. 429/07, s. 6 (2)." ...

What types of records need to be kept?

- (5) Every designated public sector organization and every other provider of goods or services that has at least 20 employees in Ontario shall prepare a document describing its training policy, and the document must include a summary of the contents of the training and details of when the training is to be provided. O. Reg. 429/07, s. 6 (5).
- (6) Every designated public sector organization and every other provider of goods or services that has at least 20 employees in Ontario shall keep records of the training provided under this section, including the dates on which the training is provided and the number of individuals to whom it is provided. O. Reg. 429/07, s. 6 (6).”

Municipal Guidelines for Delivering Accessible Customer Service

in the United Townships of Head, Clara & Maria

Accessible Customer Service Training Booklet, November 2009

Part 1: Accessible Customer Service

- The United Townships of Head, Clara & Maria Council and Library Board is committed to providing client-centered service.
- We know that focusing on meeting client needs will help us build trust and confidence within our community.
- It's a key focus for our organization, and it's the right thing to do.
- We are committed to ensuring that we comply with Provincial standards to provide accessible customer service to all our customers including those with a disability.

Provincial Accessibility Standards

- The Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2005 (AODA) was passed by the Ontario legislature with the goal of creating standards to improve accessibility across the province in five areas:
 - Customer Service –now law
 - Information and Communication – with the Minister
 - Transportation – with the Minister
 - Employment – with the Minister
 - Built Environment – in review by the Committee

- The Accessibility Standards for Customer Service is the first of the five standards and will take effect on Jan. 1, 2010. This standard details specific requirements for all service providers, including municipalities. The following is a summary of the key requirements of the Accessibility Standards for Customer Service:
 1. Establish policies, practices and procedures for providing goods or services to people with disabilities.
 2. Communicate with a person with a disability in a way that takes their disability into account.
 3. Set a policy to allow people to use their own personal assistive devices to access our goods or services.
 4. Allow people with disabilities to be accompanied by their guide dog or service animal in those areas of our premises that are open to the public, unless the animal is excluded by law.

5. Permit people with disabilities who use a support person to bring that person with them while accessing goods or services in premises open to the public or third parties.
 6. Train staff, volunteers, contractors and any other people who interact with the public or other third parties on our behalf on a number of topics as outlined in the Customer Service Standards.
 7. Establish a process for people to provide feedback on how you provide goods or services to people with disabilities. Also outline how you will respond to any feedback and take action on complaints.
 8. Provide notice when facilities or services that people with disabilities rely on are unavailable.

Part 2: What do we mean when we say 'Disability'?

- Disabilities come in many different forms, sometimes obvious and sometimes not.
- A 'Disability' as defined by the AODA includes:
- Any degree of physical disability, infirmity, malformation or disfigurement that is caused by bodily injury, birth defect or illness;
- A condition of mental impairment or a developmental disability;

- A learning disability, or a dysfunction in one or more of the processes involved in understanding or using symbols or spoken language;
 - A mental disorder;
 - An injury or disability for which benefits were claimed or received under the insurance plan established under the Workplace Safety and Insurance Act, 1997; (“handicap”).

Part 3: What is Accessible Customer Service?

- Accessible customer service encompasses a variety of elements. The United Townships of Head, Clara & Maria is committed to providing customer service to persons with disabilities in a manner that:
 - Respects their dignity and independence;
 - Is integrated as fully as possible into the method of service delivery;
 - Ensures reasonable efforts are made to provide an opportunity equal to that offered to other customers to obtain and use our goods or services;

- Allows persons with disabilities to benefit from the same services, in the same place, and in a similar way as other customers; in other words, an equality of outcome;
 - Is sensitive to an individual's need;
 - Is responsive by delivering service in a timely manner, considering the nature of the service and the specific accommodation required.

What is Accessible Customer Service?

Accessible customer service can mean many things. Mostly, it is the understanding that each individual may need a slightly different type of accommodation for the service we provide.

Some examples of this include:

- A person who is blind may need to have information read aloud to them;
- An individual with a learning disability may need to have instructions written down;
- Someone who uses a wheelchair may need help in finding an accessible route.

Accessible customer service is good customer service — courteous, helpful and prompt.

Part 4: How should I interact with persons with disabilities who use assistive devices, the assistance of a service animal or a support person?

Assistive Devices:

Definition

- Devices that people may bring with them or that are already on the premises and are used to assist persons with disabilities in carrying out activities or in accessing the services provided by the United Townships of Head, Clara & Maria.

- Include, but are not limited to, wheelchairs, walkers, white canes used by people who are blind or who have low vision, note taking devices, portable magnifiers, recording machines, assistive listening devices, personal oxygen tanks and devices for grasping.

Do

- Ensure that the customer is permitted to enter the premises with the assistive device and to utilize the device unless excluded by law.
- Remove potential barriers to the use of assistive devices where possible.
- Offer assistive devices in a manner that respects the person's dignity and independence.
- Ensure persons with disabilities are aware of assistive devices available on the providers' premises or otherwise supplied by the provider.

Don't

- Lean on or reach over a customer or their device.

Service Animal:

Definition

- An animal trained specially to assist an individual with a disability. Many times it is readily apparent that the animal is used by a person with a disability for reasons relating to their disability. For example, a guide dog wearing a harness.
- If it is not apparent that the animal is a service animal, then a letter from a physician or nurse confirming that the person requires the animal for reasons relating to a disability, or the customer may be asked to present a certificate to confirm that the service animal has been trained to assist a person with a disability by a professional service animal institution.

Do

- Allow service animals anywhere customers normally have access.
- Permit the customer to keep the service animal with him or her, unless the animal is otherwise excluded by law from the premises i.e. areas where food is prepared. Animals are permitted access to dining or food ordering areas.
- Leave the care and supervision of the service animal with the customer.

Don't

- Talk to, touch or make eye contact with the service animal.

Support Persons:

Definition

- Those who accompany a person with a disability to help them with communication, mobility, personal care or medical needs or with access to goods or services.

Do

- Permit customers and their support person to enter the premises together.
- Provide the person with a disability access to their support person while on the premises.
- Obtain consent from the customer if confidential information is going to be shared when a support person is present.
- Speak directly to your customer, not to the support person.

Don't

- Do not charge support persons an admission fee or access fee where a fee has been paid by an attendee to the Municipality (a separate fee for additional food or lodging is permissible).
- If a support person is admitted to an event and fees are payable to a third party, the support person is permitted to attend the event at their own cost.

Part 5: How can I provide excellent service to customers with disabilities?

- Each table below defines a specific category of disability and outlines some tips to help you provide service to customers. Always start with person first language, which means by saying “person with a disability”, rather than “a disabled person”. In any interaction, it means addressing the person’s service needs, rather than focusing on the disability.

Tips For Serving Customers

- Don't assume the customer can't see you
- Speak directly to your customer
- Offer your elbow to guide – if they accept, walk slowly
- Identify landmarks along the route
- Be precise and descriptive with information
- Don't leave the customer without advising them that you are leaving them

Most importantly, if you are nervous, relax!
People with disabilities are generally aware they may need some accommodations and will work with you; just remember to ask how you can help.

Part 6: What happens if for some reason we can't serve a person with a disability?

- It is possible that from time to time there will be disruptions in service, such as renovations that limit access to an area or technology that is temporarily unavailable. If a disruption in service is planned, and expected, it is important to provide reasonable notice.

- Customers with disabilities may go to a lot of trouble to access services such as booking specialized transit or arranging for their support person to attend. By providing reasonable notice of service unavailability, you can save the customer an unnecessary trip. Notice can be provided by several methods, such as on the Municipality's website, by telephone or in writing.

- In the event of an unexpected disruption in service, provide notice quickly and in as many ways as possible.
 - Consider offering alternative methods of service while informing those that may be impacted personally. It is important to recognize that there are internal and external resources available to assist you in delivering service to persons with disabilities:

- Review the Accessible Customer Service Policy and the Municipal Accessibility Plan at www.townshipsofheadclaramaria.ca
 - Bell Relay Service Operators (BCRS) are available to assist in placing or receiving calls to and from persons who use a TTY (telephone typewriter or teletypewriter). There is no charge for local calls. To place a call through the BCRS call 1-800-855-0511
 - Book a sign language interpreter at Ontario Interpreting Services www.chs.ca/en/ontario-interpreting-service/ontario-interpreting-services-18.html

- Requests for alternate formats should be honoured in the most practical manner depending on the media chosen, the size and complexity of the document, the quality and source of the documents, the feasibility of the request (including the cost) and the number of documents to be converted. It should be noted that when a request for one of these formats is received and deemed feasible, staff should make every attempt to respond to the request in the most practical manner and to the satisfaction of the requestor. If it is determined by staff that the production of the format requested is not feasible, then other alternate methods of providing the information should be explored that will still meet the needs of the requestor (e.g. Audio CD or explaining the information verbally etc.).
